Statement of purpose of bill as introduced: This bill proposes to ensure that all employees shall accrue a minimum number of paid hours annually so they can take paid time from work to take care of their own health and safety needs and those of their families.

An act relating to absence from work for health care and safety

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Sec. 1. FINDINGS

The General Assembly finds:

(1) Nearly all employees need to take time off from work because the employee is sick or injured; needs to care for a sick or injured family member; or needs to attend or accompany a family member to scheduled preventive, routine, or therapeutic health care appointments.

(2) One-half of all private sector employers do not provide paid time off for absence from work for medical care. An estimated 38 percent of all private sector workers in the State must choose between jeopardizing their health or the health of a family member and forgoing income.

(3) Low-income employees are less likely to have paid time from work to care for their health and therefore are more likely to work when sick or injured to avoid losing income. The majority of low-income workers are clustered in service sector jobs such as food services, retail sales, child care, and health care, which require substantial contact with the public. When these service employees work when sick, they jeopardize not only their own health, but also the health of coworkers and the public, thereby creating health and financial implications that extend well beyond the workplace.

(4) Many employees who do have paid time off from work to tend to their own health care issues are not permitted to use that time to care for sick family members.

(5) Routine, preventive health care contributes to the prevention of illness or injury, minimizing recovery time, and reducing the need for more costly medical or emergency treatment.

(6) When parents care for their sick children, the children tend to recover more quickly and experience improved mental and physical health.
Sick children who are sent to school and child care because a parent cannot afford to leave work to care for them infect other children and adults and increase time lost from school or work.

(7) For decades the State has developed programs to help older Vermonters and Vermonters with a disability to live at home, avoiding some of the financial and social costs of institutional care. It is crucial for the success of these programs that relatives are available to provide care or assist caregivers.

(8) When employees have paid time off from work and are able to care for their own health and the health of close family members without sacrificing income, stress and anxiety are greatly reduced. The employer benefits by gaining a more stable, productive, loyal, and satisfied workforce.

(9) Employers also receive direct financial benefits from providing employees with paid time off to care for their own health or the health of a close family member. Studies show that “presenteeism,” the circumstance in which an employee goes to work sick, causes far more costly productivity and financial losses than any losses associated with absenteeism.

(10) Employers who provide paid time off for health care generally report that their employees do not overuse or abuse the time off. The typical use of paid time off for health care is between three and five days, even when the amount of paid time available is greater.

(11) Nationally, at least one-quarter of all women report having suffered physical or sexual abuse by an intimate partner. One in seven men report physical abuse by an intimate partner. One in five women and one in 71 men report having been raped during their lifetimes.

(12) Victims of domestic violence are forced to be absent from work because of the abuse. The mean number of days lost from work by rape victims is 8.1, for victims of physical assault 7.2, and for stalking 10.1.
Without paid time from work, these victims are in grave danger of losing their jobs. Victims of domestic violence, who frequently need the economic security to ensure their health and safety, are particularly devastated by loss of employment.

Sec. 2. 21 V.S.A. § 471(1) and (2) are amended to read:

(1) “Employer” means an individual, organization, or governmental body, partnership, association, corporation, legal representative, trustee, receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, and any common carrier by rail, motor, water, air, or express company doing business in or operating within this state which for the purposes of

(A) parental leave, employs ten or more individuals who are employed for an average of at least 30 hours per week during a year

(B) family leave, employs 15 or more individuals for an average of at least 30 hours per week during a year

Sec. 3. 21 V.S.A. § 472c is added to read:

§ 472c. PAID HEALTH CARE TIME

(a) An employee shall accrue not less than one hour of paid health care time for every 30 hours worked. In the absence of a more generous paid health care time plan, an employer may:

(1) limit the amount of paid health care time accrued to a maximum of 56 hours in a 12-month period;

(2) limit to 40 hours the number of hours in the workweek for which full-time employees not subject to the overtime provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act (29 U.S.C. § 213(a)(1)) may accrue paid health care time; or

(3) incorporate paid health care time within a complement of paid leave for its employees that provides no less than the minimum required by this subsection.

(b) Paid health care time shall be compensated at the same hourly rate and with the same benefits, including health care benefits, as the employee normally earns for hours worked. Service or tipped employees shall be compensated at an amount that is not less than the minimum wage required for nonservice or nontipped employees pursuant to section 384 of this title.

(c) An employee may use paid health care time for any of the following reasons:
(1) The employee is ill or injured.

(2) The employee obtains professional diagnostic, preventive, routine, or therapeutic health care.

(3) The employee cares for a sick or injured child, parent, parent-in-law, grandparent, spouse, domestic partner, stepchild, foster child, or ward of the employee who lives with the employee, including helping that individual obtain diagnostic, preventive, routine, or therapeutic health treatment.

For the purposes of this section, “domestic violence,” “sexual assault,” or “stalking” has the same meaning as in 15 V.S.A. § 1151.

(d) Unless an employer and its employees agree to paid health care time provisions more generous to employees with respect to accrual rates and maximum hours:

(1) An employee shall use paid health care time in the smallest time increment that the employer’s payroll system uses to account for other absences, when the employee’s absence is shorter than a normal workday.
(2) Paid health care time that is accrued but unused shall be carried over to the next year, but an employee may use no more than 56 hours of paid health care in any one year, unless the employer provides a more generous allotment.

(3) Upon separation from employment, an employee shall not be entitled to payment for unused paid health care time unless agreed upon by the employer.

(4) At the employer’s discretion, an employee may borrow paid health care time before the time is actually accrued.

(5) An employee who is rehired within 12 months after a separation from employment shall retain paid health care time accrued but unused at the time of separation.

(e) An employer with a paid health care time policy that is comparable to or more generous than the paid health care time provided under this section is not required to provide additional paid health care time.

(f) An employer may not require an employee to look for or provide a replacement worker for the time during which the employee uses or is expected to use paid health care time.

(g) An employer may require an employee planning to take paid health care time to:
(1) make reasonable efforts to avoid having to do so for routine or preventive health care; or

(2) notify the employer as soon as practicable by providing an explanation of the reason for taking paid health care time and for the expected duration of the employee’s absence.

(h)(1) An employer may require certification from a health care provider to verify the need for paid health care time when the employee is absent or plans to be absent for more than three consecutive workdays.

(2) If the reason that the employee has been absent for more than three consecutive workdays is due to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, the employee may provide certification by means of a sworn statement from the employee or law enforcement or court records or other documentation from an attorney or legal advisor, member of the clergy, or health care provider. An employer receiving information relating to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking shall not disclose the information unless the employee has consented in writing to the disclosure. If the employer is required by law to disclose this information, the employer shall notify the employee at the time the notice or request for disclosure is received by the employer and prior to disclosure.

(3) The employee shall provide the certification no later than 30 days after it is requested by the employer. The employer shall pay the cost of or reimburse the employee for any out-of-pocket costs related to providing this certification.

(i) An employer shall post notice of the provisions of this section in a form provided by the Commissioner in a place conspicuous to employees at the employer’s place of business.

An employer may require that leave be taken in a minimum of two-hour segments and may be taken for any of the following purposes:
